

Tattoo After Care

For The First 3 Days:

- Wash the area with unscented or anti-bacterial soap, 3 times daily.
- Don't be afraid to rub the area firmly when washing.
- Gently pat the tattoo dry with a lint free towel.
- Apply ointment (Weber's Vitamin E) lightly to a slight sheen, 3 times daily after each washing or as needed to ensure tattoo does not dry out.
- Use plastic wrap if covering the tattoo becomes necessary for any reason.
- Do not use an excessive amount of ointment or cover the tattoo for extended periods of time. If the skin cannot breathe, sweating can occur and cause the tattoo to weep its colour.

After The First 3 Days:

- After the first 3 days the tattoo will begin to form a protective scab. Do not wash the area for 7 days. Getting the tattoo wet will not harm the scab, but do not scrub or use soap during this time.
- Cease using ointment which may soften the scab and diminish the protective coating. Instead use an unscented lotion (i.e. Lubriderm). If the ointment doubles as a moisturizer then use it straight through the healing process.
- Use the skin lotion for 14 days as needed to keep skin from getting too dry.
- The protective scab may not form in all areas. Do not pick, scratch or rub the area to avoid damage to the tattoo.
- Your tattoo will fully heal in approximately 3 weeks.
- Other tattoo products come with specific instructions for use. Be sure you are well informed of the product and its properties before use.
